WELCOME TO OUR 2017 "GLOBAL LUMINARIES" WEEKEND

Beginning January 26, GLOBAL LUMINARIES of the Studio Glass Movement will ascend on the Sarasota area for the Third Annual Contemporary Studio Glass Weekend. Leading artists from around the world will represent their countries in spectacular exhibitions of studio glass.

You're invited to an amazing 4 day studio glass experience which includes exhibitions, auctions, studio tours, talks by internationally noted artists, glass blowing demonstrations, and private tours of museums featuring glass.

Longboat Key Center for the Arts, a division of Ringling College and Habatat Galleries of Michigan have collaborated once again to bring you this extraordinary collection of art and artists from around the globe. This weekend is designed to excite seasoned collectors as well as anyone who enjoys the medium of glass!

THE ITINERARY

THURSDAY JANUARY 26, 2017

5:30 - 8:00pm

WP Opening Reception for Glass Artists Kathleen Mulcahy and Ron Desmett

Alfstad& Contemporary

ABOUT THE ARTISTS:

Kathleen Mulcahy's glass works provide an opening into her soul and into nature. The water-like drops in her latest works represent notes and pauses in the silent musical score of a tone, a murmur, a slow vibration, a low distant hum.

Ron Desmett produces some of the strangest objects ever created in glass. Irregular, lumpy and black, his intentionally crude forms are at complete odds with the refined and sensual qualities normally associated with decorative glassworks. Desmett's vessels are at once terribly homely and utterly captivating—standing solidly, inevitably at the nexus between natural representation and artistic abstraction.

RSVP REQUIRED. EVERYONE WELCOMED!

WP Masterworks Auction and Strolling Dinner
Longboat Key Center for the Arts

You're invited to the Longboat Key Center for the Arts to attend a delicious strolling dinner and preview Habatat's "Acquire a Piece of History" Masterworks Auction presenting the legendary collection of Jean and Hilbert Sosin. This auction will feature works from one of the earliest and most historically significant collections ever offered. During the auction a short history of each work or artist will be discussed by Ferdinand Hampson, who was intimately involved in the development of this collection—an enjoyable and educational live audience experience.

7:30pm Auction Begins

Free catalogues with photos of each work and estimated values are available. Bids can be made by phone, online or from the audience. Individual preview of auction items by special request.

RSVP REQUIRED. THE AUCTION IS OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.

LECTURE SERIES

Ferdinand Hampson

Contemporary Studio Glass Lecture Series

1:30 – 3:30pm, dates vary

Longboat Key Center for the Arts, Cultural Media Room – Bdg 100

$100 for the 4-part series | $30 per individual lecture

To complete our line up of activities surrounding contemporary studio glass art for 2017, we are pleased to offer a 4 part lecture series created and presented by Mr. Hampson. Founder and past president of Habatat Galleries, MI., Mr. Hampson has been involved with artists working with glass for 45 years. He is the author of several publications, and has lectured extensively and written numerous articles and introductions for exhibition catalogues. Internationally recognized as a noted authority and historian in the field, his name is synonymous with glass today.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1

The History of Studio Glass

This lecture will begin with the dynamic artists whom began the studio glass movement in America. Mr. Hampson will then move on to the present “Centers of Glass” which will explore the great art glass localities from around the world.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8

Why Do We Collect?

Mr. Hampson will moderate a panel discussion featuring nationally known collectors of contemporary glass. The discussion will reveal insights into the development of a collection, the display of the collection for individual and community enjoyment, and ways to deepen your understanding of studio glass and the community that surrounds and supports this unique artistic expression and achievement.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4

How the Heck is that Made?!

Artists will discuss not only their techniques but all of the ways artists explore the use of glass as an art medium. Short films will visually reveal the processes of blowing, casting, fusing, and laminating glass. Cold work techniques which are used after the initial form is created will also be part of the presentation.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10

What Am I Looking At?

For the last session of our 4-part series, Mr. Hampson will lead a discussion of what makes a great work of art. He will describe the process of looking and placing studio glass pieces into the historic context of the contemporary studio glass movement. Images of seminal works throughout the history of studio glass will be analyzed. Participants will be able to view examples of these pieces which will be on display for this last lecture. A small reception will follow.
