

Traditions | Special Call to Artists Experimental Installation Exhibition | Winter 2020

In January 2020, EAC will host an experimental installation exhibition titled Traditions. From December 17 – 20, 2019 and January 7 – 10, 2020, participants are invited to add photographs to “the line” that represent, depict, reference, or reflect on a personal tradition. These photos can be snapshots captured at a moment in time or images created to represent a tradition in time and place. Traditions can include anything from holidays and family to inside jokes and accidental occurrences that are remembered or reflected on regularly. The idea is that for the reception on Saturday, January 11, 2020, the Loranger Gallery will be filled with images that represent the traditions of our creative community.

Please note: images can be submitted on any type of paper, from copy paper to high resolution photo paper, but all images must be photographs. We strongly encourage participants to scan or reproduce images that are one of a kind and do not exist in digital format, as we do not want anyone to lose a sentimental document.

Receiving date: Tuesday – Friday, December 17 – 20, 2019; January 7 – 10, 2020*

Reception: Saturday, January 11, 2020, 2 – 4 pm | Removal date: Saturday, January 18, 2020

Generation after generation enjoy the Easter tradition of coloring eggs in the Spring. The tradition is fun to enjoy with the newest members trying it for the first time and always recalls memories of times gone by.

MC's story: After moving 3x in 2 years, MC knew she had to part with her mother's turkey roaster, but was having trouble because of all the joyous memories of their family traditions. In discussing with a colleague, her peer said "the turkey roaster is not your mother!" With that, she took a photo to remind her of their sentimental turkey traditions and let it go!

National Donut Day on June 5 comes at the end of a long season for a small staff, when the days get longer, the traffic gets lighter and they can pause briefly to reflect on their successes for the year. It's the perfect time and way to celebrate a great year.

Exhibition sponsored in part:

